

ABOUT WILLIS WORKPLACE RISK

Willis Group Holdings is a leading global risk advisor, insurance and reinsurance broker and operates on every continent with more than 18,000 employees in over 400 offices. Willis Workplace Risk Practice advises and support many of Australia's top 150 companies on all aspects of workers compensation including self-insurance and safety.

Our Workplace Risk practice are specialists in ensuring you understand, control and reduce your workers' compensation cost.

We specialise in three core areas of workplace risk including:

- Workers' Compensation
- Self-insurance (including Comcare) and
- Work Health & Safety.

Our primary focus is to partner with your organisation to deliver measurable performance improvements across these areas and deliver tangible cost savings.

We help you to:

- understand the current cost of workers' compensation (direct and indirect cost)
- trend likely premium costs for future periods
- determine the size of opportunities and threats
- consider alternate insurance options, such as retro-paid loss premium models
- implement recommendations to deliver maximum return on effort.
